Resident (1:05:15): Is it [the traffic study] not something that can be put on the Town website?

Mayor (1:05: 20): I have to be honest with you, we try and limit [the information] because what happens is that when there's people who, and I'm speaking with all respect, there's a lot of people who think they're experts and don't know anything about what they're speaking about, and what they end up doing is propagating the information incorrectly. I much rather somebody come here. I've had a chance to have it presented to me by experts. I've had a chance to digest it and convert it into something that as lay people we can all understand. Not everybody's a traffic engineer, and that's the problem when you try and put out information. I cannot control the message, the incorrect message that propagates. So that's one of the reasons why we don't put out that kind of information. You can come and you can ask, and I was very clear with you, very clear with my answers on what was told to us, and that's why I don't just want to put it out there. I'd rather you come and ask a question.
